Hi Michael,

I agree – we were fortuitous with the timing – but annoyingly prices on properties we are looking to buy are still being stubborn and inevitably all being reduced!

With pleasure, please see below and feel free to use as you wish.

We were referred to Michael at Hadleigh by friends of ours and could not have been happier with the recommendation. Throughout the sale of our flat he was extremely helpful, courteous, trustworthy and genuinely understood what we were trying to achieve from the sale. He took on board our concerns and aims but also guided us according to his industry experience and well thought through advice which resulted in the eventual sale of our property to a reliable buyer at a price we were all very happy with.
